Funding will help company expand engineering team and marketing programs to accelerate growth

PORTLAND, Ore., March 29, 2022 — PKI Solutions, a leading cybersecurity firm providing Public Key Infrastructure (PKI) products, services, and training, today announced that Northwest Bank has funded a $2M revolving credit facility for the company. This funding will enable PKI Solutions to build out its engineering and sales teams as well as invest in marketing. Additionally, the operating support will help the company as it scales operations for rapid expansion this year.

“Now, more than ever, there is a tremendous need for innovative cybersecurity tools and training to help organizations that are battling data breaches and other unrelenting cyberattacks. These organizations need help to protect their important data now and in the future – and that’s where PKI Solutions can play a key role,” said Mark B. Cooper, president and founder of PKI Solutions. “We’re very pleased to have the support of Northwest Bank as we embark on the next phase in our company’s growth to meet market demand.”

PKI is a foundational technology for almost every identity and data encryption solution used throughout the world. In addition, PKI Solutions will soon be rolling out a new PKI training course, Introduction to Certificates & Keys, featuring video, audio, and slide-based content that is delivered electronically so that organizations’ cybersecurity teams can learn in a self-paced online environment.

Northwest Bank Oregon Division President Tom Lee said, “Given the intense focus on cybersecurity around the world, we’re very aware of the significant market need for solutions and training from companies like PKI Solutions that are laser focused on helping their customers secure, monitor, and protect their data.
